You enter the data, KANINE's printable reports will do the rest.

In the early days of K-9 work, most K-9 records were kept on paper, if at all. Though this type of record keeping might provide for adequate proof of training, the data itself cannot be analyzed or presented in a professional format.

KANINE provides not only the means to enter your K-9 record data expediently, but also allows you to send the data into a growing number of printable reports for court presentation or general documentation.

And, KANINE has the built in functionality to convert the printable report into a pdf report at the touch of a button.
